

WESTERLY

The regular meeting of the Westerly town council was held Monday morning at the council rooms on Broad street. At the meeting, Jesse Burgess of Groton appeared and made a complaint to the council that his property had not been put back in proper shape after the workmen had finished on the sewer work in his yard. He said that he had repeatedly spoken to the contractors who were hired by the town, for damages to his property and has received no response from them.

Mr. Burgess stated that at the request of the men working for the town, he allowed them to connect a hose pipe to an outside faucet and use water from the meter. This was to be in return for their doing some grading for him in the rear of his property. The water had been used so that he was obliged to pay $10 in excess of the regular water rate and the men failed in their promise to do the grading.

Another complaint registered by him was for damages done to a valuable tree on his property. At the conclusion of the remarks, Chairman Clifford W. Campbell, said that something should be done on behalf of Burgess and he agreed to refer the matter up with the proper person and see if the wrongs could be done to be right. Herbert P. Clarke, in behalf of his parents, who own property on Grove avenue, said that their property had been left in a wretched condition after the work on the sewerage had been done. Mr. Clarke stated that he had seen Mr. McKenney, several times about the matter and told him of conditions, but nothing has ever been done to remedy them.

Chief George E. Egger made a statement in regard to the way that automobiles are permitted to park at the foot of Union street when a fire alarm is sounded. Chief Egger read an extract from the General Laws of Rhode Island, relative blocking traffic during a fire, of any hindrance to the progress of the fire trucks, and the penalty of their violation. He gave several instances where the curious automobile drivers had hindered the firemen by blocking traffic.

Attention of the council was called by Mr. Egger and Town Clerk E. E. Whipple to the way that the parking rules in front of the town hall on Broad street had been violated. Mr. Egger stated that he was employed at the C. B. Colwell Sons Co. press works and when a fire alarm is sounded by a stand-by order with a local fire service company, to rush after him at his work and take him in the quickest possible manner to the fire. In this respect he says he has been hindered by the curious drivers who have not responded as they should.
